Dear Family Members,

I hope everyone enjoyed a blessed Thanksgiving despite the difficulties the pandemic has presented. Here at Jeanne Jugan Residence the elderly enjoyed the traditional Thanksgiving meal with all the trimmings. The overwhelming response to our Turkey Drop provided more than enough turkeys for a long time. Our dedicated kitchen staff went out of their way to satisfy the Residents' many preferences and our friends and benefactors not only provided an abundance of turkeys, we received a variety of pies, fresh rolls and all that was needed for a true thanksgiving feast! The Residents are still talking about it!

That afternoon the Little Sisters toured the building offering the Residents some of the wine and cheese sent by a generous benefactor. The day before Thanksgiving the Residents had a great time engaged in some of the creative thanksgiving games set up by our ingenious staff. Although the pandemic has changed the way we lived out this year, especially the holidays, we are grateful to our staff, friends and benefactors who have helped us to rejoice the hearts of the Residents even in these difficult times.

As the doors open to the Advent season on Sunday, we look forward to spending the weeks ahead preparing for the celebration of the birth of Christ. These challenging times give us a chance to focus more deeply on the spiritual aspect of this beautiful feast. God bless and have a wonderful weekend.

Sincerely,

Sr. Gertrude Mary lsp
